

Dave Jackman's 44th Annual Fall Colors Tour

We will be returning to St. Paul Virginia for the 44th annual fall color tour. I had many comments last year how well we were treated and how nice the hotel was, so we will return this year. The dates are Sunday October 20th and leaving Friday Morning October 25th.

I have reserved 24 rooms at the Western Front Hotel in St. Paul. We will be visiting the Coal Mining Museum that Virginia has opened after a multi-year renovation.

Our main event this year will be retracing the Wilderness Road that was blazed by Daniel Boon to get through the Cumberland Gap to settle Ky and Ohio. There are several museums along its route along with early forts etc. It actually went right through Castlewood next to St Paul.

In addition we will be visiting the Carter Family Complex, the home of some of the early Blue Grass concerts etc. I know that several of you visited it last year and enjoyed it.

We also have booked Gerald Anderson, Wayne Henderson, Spencer Strickland and perhaps others to play for us on Thursday evening. Billy Hillman will have a cruise in so that we can again meet some of the locals. He tells me he has all his pinball machines repaired and he will open his home to view his collection. He is restoring a Midget so we may be able to visit his garage also.

You can make your reservation now.
